In the early 1820s Chappell's were awarded the Royal Warrant. In 1840 Chappell's started producing their own pianos.

One of the nicest tributes came from Richard Strauss:

"Dear Sirs, I consider the tone of a remarkable sweet and sympathetic quality, and of musical sustaining power, and the touch is very responsive and light. Having always been used to pianos of German make, it was a great and agreeable surprise to me to find such a perfect instrument of English manufacture. Yours, Richard Strauss."
